

Childline Campaign – Something's not right

The Home Office has joined forces with charities including the NSPCC, Barnardo's and The Children's Society to launch a new campaign to protect victims of child abuse. The campaign, 'Something's Not Right', encourages young people to recognise different forms of abuse, report it and get help.

Tips on how to shop online safely

BUY NOW

Where to shop
If you're making a purchase from a company or seller you don't know and trust, carry out some research first and ask a friend or family member for advice before completing the purchase.

Email accounts
Use a strong, separate password for your email account. Criminals can use your email to access other online accounts, such as those you use for online shopping.

Phishing
Some of the emails or texts you receive about amazing offers may contain links to fake websites. Not all links are bad, but if you're unsure don't use the link, go separately to the website.

Payment method
If you decide to go ahead with the purchase, use a credit card if you have one, other payment providers may not provide the same protection.

E-scooter advice

E-SCOOTERS

What you need to know

It's illegal to ride a privately owned electric scooter in public

Did you know it's illegal to ride a privately owned electric scooter (e-scooter) in public?

That's because e-scooters are classed as motor vehicles in law. So, in theory, this means that you need an MOT, road tax and insurance to use one, however it isn't currently possible to register e-scooters in this way.

Privately owned e-scooters can only be used on private land, with the permission of the landowner.

You cannot use a privately owned e-scooter on the road, pavement or in a public space. If you do then you risk receiving a large fine, points on your driving licence and your e-scooter could be seized.

Some parts of the UK are running government trials of rental e-scooters. If you're over 16 and have a full or provisional driving licence, then you can use these on public roads and cycle paths.

Just check that your driving licence covers categories AM, A or B.
